Pasta night

08/11/2021

Introduction

Hey everyone!

Hopefully you enjoyed our first event and had fun reading our first MaChTazine! We are back with our second MaChTazine already which is fully dedicated to our Pasta Night. If you don't get enough pasta at our next event, you can always visit some of the pasta restaurants in Ghent that we introduce to you. We also want to test your pasta knowledge by a little quiz and give you some interesting facts about pasta. This MaChTazines also includes a couple of pictures from the BBQ and a job vacancy at Cargill. Last but not least there are 2 chance to win a prize, namely via an Instagram give-away and via the puzzle of Umicore.

Your MaChT Press - Felix & Tessa

Companies of the month

For the ones new to MaChT, each of our companies of the month offers an epic gift to a person who fulfills the assignment next to the company's text. This assignment will usually be a puzzle or it can be something totally different. To participate, simply finish the assignment, tear or cut out the page and deposit it in one of the MaChT boxes placed in buildings 46, 70A or 125. An innocent hand will draw/choose the winner from the successful contenders after the given deadline. Good luck!

Ristoranti di Pasta di Gand

In honour of MaChT's pasta night, we figured you might be craving for more Italian flavors. So we curated some of our favorite pasta restaurants in Ghent for you to enjoy. Smakelijk!

Bocca

Recollettenlei 2, Ghent (near the Korenmarkt)
Citadellaan 4, Ghent (near the Overpoort, takeaway only)

This pasta joint offers quick and cheap pasta in a variety of sauces, noodles, and add-ons. Their signature Bocca sauce is an awesome tomato-cream sauce, a hint of spicy, and even bacon (if you want). Also look out for their Pasta of the Week, a special sauce that rotates weekly! Pro tip: Just go with the large — that's usually a meal and half for me!

De Kastart

Onderbergen 42, Ghent (not far from the Korenmarkt)

One of the most famous pasta restaurants of Ghent is De Kastart. It is named after the Dutch slang term 'Kastaar', meaning a mischevous person. They serve their famous and delicious home-made Kastart sauce, but they also have Bolognaise sauce, cheese sauce, vegetarian alternatives, pasta pesto and lasagna. You can eat inside or you can do takeaway.

Bavet

Muinkkaai 120, Ghent (next to movie theater Kinepolis)
Verlorenkost 1, Ghent (near campus Boekentoren/Plateau)
Hooiaard 7, Ghent (near the Korenmarkt)

Bavet serves delicious pastas with creative names such as 'The Holy Grail', 'OMG They Killed Kenny?!' and Billy Bunter. Are you a person that always ends up with stains of spaghetti sauce on a new, white T-shirt? Then you will be at the right place in Bavet, where adults wear large bibs to avoid spilling on your clothes.

Pasta La Vista

Nederkouter 57, Ghent (near campus Boekentoren/Plateau)

Pasta La Vista is a small, cozy place to eat where you can mainly get takeaway pasta because there is not a lot of place inside. They have different types of pasta sauces so there will be something for everyone at fair prices. You can also find them on events or festivals because they own multiple foodtrucks.

Basic Italian

Sint-Pietersplein 42, Ghent (near Overpoort)

Walpoortstraat 2, Ghent (not far from Campus Ufo and the Kouter)

Sint-Pieters Station, Ghent (at the entrance hall of the station)

basic italian

Basic Italian has multiple restaurants in different cities. They offer simple but tasty pastas in three different sizes. You can even choose the ingredients that they put together inside your cup of pasta (type of pasta, sauce, cheese and toppings).

Spooky pasta for you to 'ciao' down on.

Pasta quiz

Can you connect the pasta with its right name? It is just a little puzzle for you to have fun, the solution can be found at the bottom of page 6.

1 •

- a Spaghetti (Wikipedia: A long, thin, cylindrical pasta of Italian origin)

- b Fusilli (Wikipedia: Long or short, thick, cockscrew-shaped pasta)

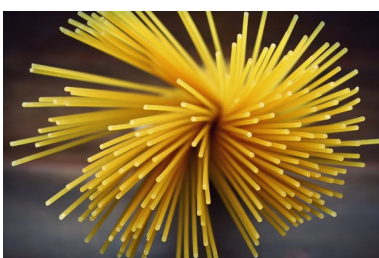

3 •

- c Fettucine (Wikipedia: Ribbon of pasta approx. 6.5mm wide)

4 •

- d Conchiglie (Wikipedia: Seashell-shaped)

5 •

- e Chifferi (Wikipedia: Short and wide macaroni)

Job vacancy at

Process Improvement Engineer

The Process Improvement Engineer will contribute to developing, implementing and sustaining process improvement initiatives. We seek a professional who will conduct continuous improvement activities with low-to-medium project cost and risk and activities with well-defined processes.

Accountabilities:

- Directly provide updates on the project objectives, performance measures, issues and risks to senior staff.
- Identify, monitor, and implement continuous improvement best practices.
- Contribute to developing and handling continuous improvement plans for projects with low-to-medium cost and risk, reaching and sustaining project goals.
- Conduct organization readiness assessments, value realization, opportunity prioritization, resource evaluation and execute continuous improvement strategies that meet business requirements.
- Independently solve moderately complex issues with minimal supervision, while escalating more complex issues to appropriate staff.

Did you know?

- Did you know that there are more than 600 types of pasta? The most popular ones are penne, spaghetti and macaroni.
- Did you know that October 25th is World Pasta Day and October is National Pasta Month?
- Did you know Italians eat on average 27 kg of pasta per person per year?
- Did you know people were once fooled into thinking spaghetti grew on trees? This was because of a BBC documentary that was aired on April 1, 1957 where they showed the harvesting of spaghetti.
- Did you know the most popular pasta dishes are Spaghetti Bolognese, Macaroni and Cheese and Lasagna? Two of them are even served at the MaChT Pasta Night!
